UFAW chronicles 80 years of animal welfare work

The Universities Federation for Animal Welfare (UFAW) has published a new edition of its 'chronicle', a history of the charity and its work.

Science in the Service of Animal Welfare: a chronicle of eighty years of UFAW covers the period from the charity's establishment in 1926 to 2005, providing not only many highlights of UFAW's activity over the years but also a fascinating insight into the development of animal welfare science and its impact on the lives of animals.

UFAW first published the 'chronicle' in 2001 to mark the charity's 75th anniversary year and its popularity has led to the publication of this new edition, liberally illustrated throughout its 79 pages. The book is available from the UFAW office at £7.50 each including postage and packing. Contact UFAW, The Old School, Brewhouse Hill, Wheathampstead, Herts AL4 8AN. Note to Editors:

The Universities Federation for Animal Welfare (UFAW) is an internationally recognised, independent scientific and educational animal welfare charity. It works to improve knowledge and understanding of animals' needs in order to achieve high standards of welfare for farm, companion, research, captive wild animals and those with which we interact in the wild.

UFAW improves animal welfare worldwide through its programme of awards, grants and scholarships; by educational initiatives, especially at university and college level; by providing information in books, videos, reports and in its scientific journal Animal Welfare; by providing expert advice to governments and others, including for legislation and 'best practice' guidelines and codes; and by working with animal keepers, scientists, vets, lawyers and all those who care about animals.

This work relies on the support of members, subscribers and donors.
